BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Suffer hardship with me, as a good soldier of Christ.—II Timothy 2:3.

There are still countries where followers of Christ must suffer to the death. It is a challenge that is gladly met by many. In Christian lands it is often taken for granted that we will enjoy the fruits of Christian civilization and laws without even turning our hands.

Red Cross Principle

During the month of March the American Red Cross will conduct its annual campaign for members and funds in our town and throughout the country. At the same time, in an African jungle, one of the great men of our time will begin his 42nd year in a project of selfless devotion to mankind. Between these two seemingly unrelated events there is a connection, a strong one.

The man is Dr. Albert Schweitzer, physician, philosopher, writer and Nobel Prize winner, who has devoted most of his 80 years to running a hospital for the inhabitants of a remote jungle community.

Dr. Schweitzer has developed a principle called Reverence for Life, a subject on which he was interviewed recently.

It is not enough, he said, to do one's daily job, support one's family, abide by the laws. "That's all very well," he said, "but you must do something more."

"You must give some time to your fellow man. Even if it's a little thing, do something for those who have need of help, something for which you get no pay but the privilege of doing it."

So great was Dr. Schweitzer's belief in this principle that he left his native Alsace to live out his life in a jungle. That principle brings us back to the Red Cross.

The Red Cross, in its essence, is merely the means by which we all can give some help to those of our fellowmen who need it, who must have it. Through the Red Cross we can lighten the load of a tornado victim, help brighten the hours of a hospital patient, even save a life. In helping them, our own lives become more meaningful.

The Red Cross has long realized that fact and on it has been built the enduring, world-wide organization which serves us in so many ways. We can serve it, in turn, by joining during its March campaign for members and funds.

Electrically Heated Homes Not Far Off

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—Electricity will heat many of our homes within five years, according to Chester H. Lang, a General Electric vice president, who also predicted:

(1) Luminous ceilings that can be varied in brightness and color and which go on automatically when a person walks into the room.

(2) Cordless clocks that work on short-wave from the Naval Observatory.

(3) A television set that looks like a picture on the wall.

It is claimed that iron will not rust in Lake Titicaca in the Andes, because of its great altitude.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Ike Isn't Worried Over Change In Kremlin; Khrushchev Betrayed His Benefactor Malenkov; Malenkov May Become "Seriously Ill" Soon.

WASHINGTON. — President Eisenhower has expressed the following general views on the Russian purge to some of his close political observers.

On the whole, he does not feel that the replacement of Malenkov is a harbinger of war.

On the contrary, he feels that the opposite may be true and that the new setup in Russia may be embarking on a stronger policy of coexistence, without war.

This belief is based on two things:

1. Ike believes Malenkov was relieved because he was committing Russia to too much support of the Chinese Communists, a position untenable to the "peace" propaganda of the Kremlin.

2. Ike also believes that the Russian leaders are too well satisfied with the territorial conquest they have made in the last 10 years and probably figure they have nothing to gain from being tied too closely to the Formosan action, or anything else that might lead to a general war.

Ike feels that inasmuch as the Soviets have enslaved 800,000,000 people in the last 10 years through the cold war technique, they are not apt to embark on a new policy leading to a general war — all the more so when you consider that Communist plans look ahead to centuries of absorbing other nations.

KREMLIN DOUBLE-CROSS The power struggle inside the Kremlin, as pieced together by the Central Intelligence Agency, is a fantastic story of double-cross. At one time, for example, Premier Georgi Malenkov, now ousted, came to the rescue of Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev, who promptly turned on his benefactor.

Here is the fabulous, untold story: After the dreaded, mustachioed Stalin died, the intrigue became so thick inside the Kremlin that secret police chief Lavrenti Beria imported an American-made lock for his home. As it later turned out, the lock did him no good. But for a while Beria used his feared secret police to take a temporary lead in the power struggle.

Malenkov, a smooth, cunning politician, held his own by making political alliances with the Red Army's popular fighting generals. Low man in the triumvirate was stern, bald Khrushchev, who kept a shaky hold on the Communist party organization.

Beria shrewdly chose to pick off the weakest member of the triumvirate and turned his secret police loose on Khrushchev. They began by going after Khrushchev's trusted but lesser henchmen. It was at this point that Malenkov stepped in to save Khrushchev who, otherwise, would have been eliminated.

The wily Malenkov, realizing that Beria would emerge all-powerful if he purged Khrushchev, made a secret pact with the harassed Communist party boss. From what the CIA has learned from agents and defectors, Malenkov and Khrushchev joined forces to overthrow the hated Beria.

Backed up by Red Army troops and tanks, Malenkov arrested Beria in the dead of night, accused him of treason and eventually sent him to his death. This is the very fate, apparently, that Beria had planned for Khrushchev.

CRAFTY KHRUSHCHEV

The tough, ruthless Khrushchev wasted no time being grateful, but set out to overthrow the man who had saved his neck. First, Khrushchev strengthened his hold on the Communist party by shaking up the personnel. In one province alone — the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic — he shifted two-thirds of the regional party secretaries. Similar, if less drastic, personnel purges were carried out in the other provinces.

Meanwhile, Malenkov appointed Ivan Alexandrovich Serov to head up the shattered secret police. At some point, however, Serov was bought off by Khrushchev. Serov's reward was to be elevated to cabinet rank, which was arranged by Khrushchev almost simultaneously with Malenkov's resignation.

To offset Malenkov's influence with the Red Army, Khrushchev made overtures to the political generals as opposed to the fighting generals. As war minister, Nikolai Bulganin had always sided with Malenkov while he had the inside track with the army. When Bulganin showed signs of shifting his allegiance to Khrushchev, it was the tip-off that the Communist party boss had overcome Malenkov's influence with the army.

Of course, Malenkov recognized he had been caught in a squeeze play long before he submitted his humiliating resignation, full of half-confessions. For months, Khrushchev had been overruling Malenkov's policies. Most obvious was Khrushchev's public speech, giving heavy industry priority over consumer goods, thus completely reversing Malenkov's consumer-goods policy of August, 1953.

Only mystery is how Malenkov has managed to retain his head on his shoulders, since the custom in Red Russia is to murder defeated politicians. Best guess is that the Kremlin figured it would look bad, both at home and abroad, to accuse another top official of treason. Malenkov has cause, however, to worry about his health. It will surprise no one if he comes down suddenly with, say, a heart attack.

Lights Load?

When hollowed-out drums are taken from the forests of Bougainville, in the Solomon Islands, a magician sits on top to lighten the load. His presence is protection against the evil spirits that might make the logs too heavy to carry.

As for the new premier, Nikolai Bulganin, U. S. experts agree that he is merely a figurehead. Most likely, Khrushchev gave him the premiership to placate the Red Army. How long Bulganin will last in his new seat, however, is subject to speculation.

CAPITAL CHAFF

When Amvets National Commander Rufus Wilson learned that President Eisenhower likes French cuffs on his shirts he recently gave him a handsome set of gold cuff links embossed with the presidential seal.

Congressman Sid Herlong of Florida, chief talent scout for the House Democrats' baseball team, reported that he is "much impressed" by the throwing arm of Peter Rodino, III, three-year-old son of the Newark, N. J. solon, during a "tryout" on the Capitol steps. "We can use him about 1985," the congressman from Florida told the congressman from New Jersey. . . . Ike is determined to make absentee voting easier for servicemen in 1956. He has asked commander of Amvets Wilson to lead a national campaign to simplify absentee local voting laws and ballots for servicemen. (Two states, Pennsylvania and New Mexico, do not permit absentee ballots.)

People Live Longer Along East Seaboard

By ROBERT L. PETERSON
University of Illinois

Since we all want to live a long life, have you ever wondered where in America people live the longest? When I was in London last summer attending the Gerontological Congress I learned the answer from Dr. Flanders Dunbar of New York. Her studies show that the greatest concentration of people 100 years of age and older is along the Eastern seaboard, from Boston to Charleston. This was a surprise to me for I would have guessed that Florida and California had more centenarians per capita than any other locality in the country.

She explained it by saying that the stress and strain of life along the wind-whipped seacoast builds a strong measure of physical resistance in the individual. In a sense it is survival of the fittest, and those who survive are toughened to withstand the diseases which are apt to strike in later years. Dr. Dunbar said that most people who live to be a hundred have enjoyed good health and even dispositions throughout life. She says "they are optimists . . . they have many friends and a good sense of humor . . . and they talk as though

Borden Store

Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Hall of Benton visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Logan Kelly.

Quite a few were on the sick list the past week but are improving. They are Mrs. Bill McIlrath and daughter, Judy, Mrs. Teresa Borden, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Allen and Arthur Brown.

Rev. and Mrs. Vola Sittig and sons visited with Mr. and Mrs. James Allen and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown visited his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Miley Brown of Eldorado. Mrs. Miley Brown is still quite ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Hill of Marion visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Hill, over the week end.

they expect to be around for many years."

It seems there is no standard formula for living to be 100. Those who have reached the century mark give credit to a wide variety of items. Dr. Dunbar found that there were about as many who attributed their long life to temperance as there were who credited their habit of taking a daily nap. One woman felt that her long life was due to the apple pie which she had every morning for breakfast, and a retired merchant attributed his 101 years to the fact that he stood on his head every morning when he got out of bed.

Dr. Dunbar found that few oldsters die from the so-called diseases of old age. Instead, she believes that most of them die when they will die, and then nature helps them carry out their decision. This, of course, is directly in line with the philosophy frequently expressed in this column that men and women in retirement need to have interesting things to do and things to look forward to. If we are kept busy and interested in life we will have no desire to make that fatal decision and call it quits.

American Legion Auxiliary Holds Regular Meeting

The American Legion Auxiliary held its February meeting Tuesday at the auxiliary hall with Mrs. Paul Golish, president, presiding.

The membership chairman, Mrs. John Humm, reported that the unit had reached its quota and that Mrs. Sybil Whitley had been appointed by Ruth F. McMackin, department president, to serve on the National Security Board.

A motion was made to donate $5 to the National President's project, the National American Legion Child Welfare Foundation which was incorporated in July of 1954.

It was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hess had sent a gift of money in memory of Dr. C. W. Whitley and that the money will be used to purchase two books, "Lincoln's Life During the Prairie and War Years" by Carl Sandburg and Pearl Buck's "My Several Worlds," to be placed in the Mitchell-Carnegie library.

The book, "Happiness Through Creative Living" by Dr. Preston Bradley, will also be purchased and placed in the library in memory of a deceased member, Mrs. Roscoe Cook.

The auxiliary members will assist in donating and mailing letters for the Illinois Heart association, it was reported.

Rep. Gray Asks Measures to Stop Lake Drownings

Congressman Kenneth J. Gray, Representative in Congress from the 25th district, concerned with the increasing number of accidents on Crab Orchard lake, has discussed with the United States Coast Guard proper preventative measures and rescue facilities which can be maintained at the lake. He has asked the Coast Guard to investigate the following possibilities:

- 1—Establish a Coast Guard rescue unit, regular or reserve, equipped with rescue vessels and related equipment at the lake; or
- 2—Establish a Coast Guard Auxiliary flotilla on Crab Orchard lake, and furnish it with rescue equipment; or
- 3—Furnish civilian organizations with rescue equipment.

Congressman Gray also states he is taking this matter up with the Navy, the General Services Administration and the Department of Interior.

"With more people coming to Crab Orchard lake area each year, the danger of accidental drownings increases and something must be done now to get this situation under control," Congressman Gray stated. He said he has received petitions from the Southern Illinois Mayors' association and the Egyptian Fire Fighters and other groups who are concerned with this problem.

Awarded $275,000 Divorce Settlement

CHICAGO (UP) — Mrs. Elenor H. Pope was granted a $275,000 divorce settlement from industrialist William P. Pope, it has been revealed.

The court-approved settlement was reached last Jan. 12 and was disclosed Wednesday. Under its terms the money will be paid in varying amounts over a 17-year period.

The settlement also granted Mrs. Pope $400 a month for the support of two sons, Richard, 11, and James, 8. Pope was granted custody of a third son, William H., 18.

The divorce was granted on charges of desertion. Pope, who lives in suburban Lake Forest, is director and vice-president of the Neumode Hosiery Co., and Bear Brand Hosiery Co., and the Paramount Textile Manufacturing Co.

Mrs. Myra Weir and Misses Teoria and Zella Greenfield, all of Raleigh, visited with Mrs. Floy Karnes and Mrs. Julia Lowe Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Karnes and Mrs. Lowe are both ill.

Hermann Field, Freed in Poland, is En Route to Britain

LONDON (UP) — Hermann Field, the Cleveland, Ohio, architect who was released last year from a Communist jail in Poland, was en route to Britain today.

Hermann, whose American brother Noel and Noel's wife asked for political asylum in Red Hungary after being released from an Hungarian prison, took a train from Switzerland for Britain today after several months of seclusion in the little neutral country.

His wife, Kate, made his plans known in a letter to the United Press. It said:

"My husband, Mr. Hermann Field, and I will be coming to England on Thursday, Feb. 17."

The letter said Field would "be glad to meet the press on Friday, Feb. 18."

Field disappeared on Aug. 22, 1949 in Warsaw. The Harvard-educated architect had gone behind the Iron Curtain in hope of tracing his brother, Noel, who had disappeared on May 12, 1949.

He was freed from Communist Poland on Oct. 25, 1954 with an admission by the Polish regime that Field had been framed on trumped-up charges.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

San Francisco Cow Palace Will Give Republicans Lots of Roping Room

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The cavernous Cow Palace—site of everything from bronc busting to a concert by Liberace—will give Republicans lots of roping room when they meet here on Aug. 20, 1956.

The 1956 GOP National Convention will be trying to cut out a presidential candidate from a herd of favorite sons in a building that can swallow New York's Madison Square Garden or engulf a 10-story hotel easily.

Originally named the San Francisco Livestock Pavilion, the 54-acre cluster of buildings has always been known as the Cow Palace. Opened in 1941, the main arena struck many as a "mighty fine building for a bunch of cows."

The biggest crowd yet held in the 14-year-old WPA project was 22,000 persons who crowded to hear President Eisenhower's campaign address here in 1954.

But Ed Diran, administrative assistant to the Cow Palace, said the record crowd was illegal.

"It was way over fire law permits," he explained. "But we can take care of 18,500 without too much trouble."

The main building is 400 feet long, 300 feet wide with half-circles rounding off either end. Its height is 105 feet.

RECEIVES DISCHARGE FROM NAVY AIR FORCE

Bob Dallas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Dallas, is now at home after having served four years with the U. S. Naval Air Force. He has been stationed at naval air stations in Norfolk, Va., and Memphis, Tenn., where he participated in athletics including football, basketball and baseball. Mr. Dallas received his discharge on Feb. 3.

A/B James D. Waddell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Waddell, Harrisburg, RFD 3, entered the Air Force Jan. 17 of this year and is now receiving his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex. He would like to hear from friends. His address is A/B James D. Waddell, A. F. 17410818, Flight 97-3707-B, M. T. S. Box 1507, Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Senate Demos Expect to Cut Pay Boost Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic leaders predicted today that the Senate soon will approve a pay increase for congressmen—but probably only three-fourths of the $10,000 which the House voted by a 5-to-2 margin.

This would put it up to a joint conference committee to decide—subject to final approval by the House and Senate—whether the raise would be $7,500 or $10,000 a year.

After about three hours of noisy often humorous—debate, the House Wednesday voted 283-to-118 for the $10,000 pay hike, from $15,000 to $25,000 a year.

Other Raises Proposed

The House bill also would raise the salaries of Supreme Court justices and federal judges, the vice president, speaker, federal attorneys and congressional staff employees by varying amounts.

Pending in the Senate is a bill approved by its Senate Judiciary Committee which would increase the pay of all those covered in the House measure, except federal attorneys and congressional staff employees.

The main difference in the two measures is in the proposed increase in salaries of congressmen. In addition to the size of the raise, its effective date also is at issue. It would be retroactive until last Jan. 1 under the House measure.

Postponement Voted Down

The Senate bill would make it the first day of the month following enactment. But Sen. John J. Williams (R-De) has offered an amendment that would postpone any raise until after the federal budget is balanced.

The House rejected proposals to postpone the raise and to cut it down in size.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders urged House approval on the grounds that congressional salaries haven't kept pace with rising living costs.

Opponents went ahead and voted against the bill despite charges that they were "timid, political cowards."

Deadline Saturday For Entries in Spring Barrow Show

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—The deadline for entries in the second annual southern Illinois spring barrow show at Du Quoin State Fairgrounds is Saturday. Show Manager Edward Bennett said today.

Farmers in 36 southern Illinois counties are eligible to compete in the show here Feb. 24-26. Four trophies and cash prizes totaling $800 are offered for on-hoof and carcass competition sponsored by southern Illinois, Inc., in cooperation with the Du Quoin State Fair Assn.

Ronald Smith, Akin, a 20-year-old University of Illinois student, exhibited last year's on-hoof champion, a Yorkshire, Lawrence Mohr, Cutler, showed the carcass champion, a Hampshire.

Files Petitions for Democratic Nomination In State's Atty's Race

Robert V. Wilson of Eldorado has filed his petitions seeking the nomination of Democratic candidate for state's attorney, County Clerk Don B. Garrison announced today. There have been no reports of any Republican candidates circulating petitions. Last filing date is Feb. 22.

Dispute in House Over Tariff- Cutting Program

By United Press
A dispute broke out in the House today over a proposed law barring changes in legislation to carry out President Eisenhower's tariff-cutting foreign trade program.

Opponents of the legislation conceded they had no chance of killing the program but they were determined to reduce the President's tariff-trimming powers if possible.

Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W. Va.) called for an "America first" attitude toward reciprocal trade agreements. He said "Let's don't know-to somebody in the State Department."

He said that barring amendments would be a "violation of rights" of House members.

Rep. Leo E. Allen (R-Ill.) of the Rules Committee defended the procedure. He said he does not "feel the President of the United States intends to or would hurt business or any individual in the entire country."

Other developments:
TV: Sen. John O. Bricker (R-Ohio) said the four TV networks and their stations get "a disproportionate share" of TV industry revenues. He said the country would not have "a truly competitive television system" until Congress does something about the situation.

Price Supports: Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson said it would be "a grave and costly mistake" for Congress to support the flexible farm price support program and restore rigid high supports.

Germany: James B. Conant, U. S. high commissioner for Germany, told senators he is confident France and Germany will soon ratify treaties admitting a rearmored West Germany to the European defense system.

Surplus: The Defense Department told a House group it would be glad to turn over billions of dollars worth of surplus property to schools and other institutions. But it said it thought the Health, Education, and Welfare Department should handle and bear expenses of such a program.

Profit: Julius C. Holmes, nominated to be ambassador to Iran, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he made $270,000 profit on a $100,000 investment in a surplus tanker deal. Holmes and some others connected with the deal were accused of violating maritime law but the indictment later was dismissed. Holmes said he did no wrong and did not consider his profit excessive.

Firestone Widow to Wed President of Pittsburgh Pirates

MIAMI — Mrs. Dorothy Firestone, widow of rubber company heir Russell A. Firestone, and John W. Galbreath of Columbus, Ohio, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates Baseball Club, were to be married here today.

The couple said the wedding would be "just a family affair" and they would not reveal where the ceremonies would take place.

Mrs. Firestone's late husband was the son of Harvey Firestone, of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.

Galbreath, a Columbus real estate executive, is the father of Mrs. James Phillips and David Galbreath of Columbus. His first wife was Helen Mauck.

Fires Take 20 Lives in U. S., Canada; 99 Aged Women Burn to Death in Japan

By United Press
Fires took at least 20 lives in the United States and Canada in the past 24 hours, with the heaviest death toll recorded at Montreal and Baltimore.

Meanwhile, 99 aged women died in Japan's worst fire since World War II.

Other fires swept through portions of a well-known Indianapolis hotel, and through a Green Bay, Wis., grade school gymnasium where boys were practicing basketball. A gas explosion at a Seguin, Tex., office building injured three persons, one critically.

In Montreal, 11 persons died and 10 were injured when the fire broke out during a snowstorm and destroyed a five-story apartment house.

At Baltimore, at least two firemen were killed and four others were known dead and the wreckage of a three-story building which collapsed during a fire Wednesday night, striking 20 firemen. Ten were injured in addition to the dead and missing.

Hotel Guests Flee
Fire in a grease chute raced to a penthouse atop the 14-story Lincoln Hotel at Indianapolis today, forcing 375 guests into the street, but no guests nor firemen were injured.

A blaze apparently started by a short circuit whipped across the ceiling of the Nicolet grade school gymnasium at Green Bay, injuring seven teenagers and an adult. Officials said that between 40 and 50 youngsters had left the gym 10 minutes before the flash fire broke out.

Robert Baye, coach of the teenagers' basketball squad, led the boys to a window in a nearby room and to safety, then went back into the gym to make sure all were safe.

Near Jasper, Mo., Darlene Kimes, 5 months old, suffocated in the smoke from a heavily varnished table set afire by the wiring from outside, unaware of the fire.

Mrs. Kate Schmitz, 82, Effing-ton, Kan., died today while trying to start a fire in a wood-burning stove with kerosene. At Clover, S. C., Jake Robinson, 30, a city employe, burned to death in the explosion of a drum of tar being heated.

John Wesler Gunter, a 67-year-old paralytic was burned to death as he lay helplessly in his bed at Indianapolis, Ind., Wednesday.

Two children at Lonsda, Mich., died when their home burned Wednesday. Their deaths brought to 14 the number of persons killed in Michigan by fires and explosions since Monday.

Two-year-old son and 22-month-old daughter of Airman 1C Peter J. La Mirande, were burned to death late Wednesday in a fire which swept a cabin at Gardner Lake near Olathe, Kan. La Mirande, who is stationed at Olathe Naval Air Base, is a Bend, Ore., resident.

Die In Beds
The blaze at Yokohama, Japan, swept through a Catholic Mission home for old women at dawn today. Most of the victims were too feeble to flee and were burned to death near their beds.

Forty-five women, including three nuns of the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary Order, escaped from the fire-swept two-story wooden dormitory, which had no fire escapes or water supply. Another woman was missing.

The building became an inferno within minutes as the flames also destroyed the mission chapel and two smaller buildings. American Army and Navy pump trucks helped Japanese firemen fight the blaze.

At Baltimore the search continued today for victims in the fire which raced through the building occupied by the Tru-Fit Clothing Co.

The walls on two top floors collapsed just as firemen had brought the blaze under control. Many of the men were hurtled onto the burned-out floor below.

No Resumption
Of Talks in Labor
Dispute at Marion

MARION, Ill. — Federal Mediator A. M. Thompson said today he had not heard from company or union representatives regarding resumption of mediation talks in the four-day-old strike at Sangamo Electric Co. near here.

Thompson recessed the mediation session Monday "subject to call" after one meeting with officials of Sangamo's capacitor division and Lodge 1886 of the AFL International Association of Machinists.

The strike of 900 workers at the capacitor division at Ordill began Monday after rejection of a contract to replace one which expired Jan. 22. The union asked for a 10-cent hourly wage increase and the company said it could not grant an increase.

Prize Angus Herd Suffers Nervous Shock

WASHINGTON — What happened to Sam Clammer's prize herd of Aberdeen Angus shouldn't ever happen to a contented cow.

Clammer, a Washington lawyer who owns a farm at Poolesville, Md., 32 miles from the capital, said his $250,000 worth of cattle were feeding peacefully last week when an Air Force B57 bomber crashed near them.

All 300 of the animals came down with the shakes. A half dozen cows delivered calves prematurely. A veterinarian was called. He shook his head and issued his verdict: "Acute nervous shock."

Smuggle Briton
To Freedom from Foreign Legion

LONDON — A wealthy 29-year-old Eton graduate reached London Wednesday night in a secret flight from the French Foreign Legion engineered by the daughter of an earl, the cousin of a field marshal and the son of a pre-war fascist leader Sir Oswald Mosley.

Richard De Wend-Fenton, heir to a big Yorkshire estate, flew home in freedom with a high society expedition that spent a month tracking him across the desert of North Africa.

De Wend-Fenton, located in the flat of a friend early today by newsmen, said he joined the Foreign Legion last May "seeking excitement" but that all he got was "discipline and boredom." So he wrote his friends asking for help.

The three who planned and executed the rescue were Lady Mary Rous, 24, daughter of the Earl of Stradbroke, Michael Alexander, cousin of Field Marshal Earl Alexander, former defense minister; and Nicholas Mosley, son of the fascist leader.

De Wend-Fenton said the three flew to Algiers and learned his whereabouts. Then they hired Sicilian smugglers, set out across the desert by car, picked up De Wend-Fenton and sped back to the coast where the smugglers took them to Sicily.

Mrs. Margaret De Wend-Fenton, widow of her mother, Richard, said at her home at Ascot, "I am most distressed. I wish he had not done this. He could have been bought out."

Electronic Wall Across Alaska is First Line of Defense by Air Force

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of two dispatches describing how the Air Force protects America from atomic attack over our Alaskan approaches.

By GLENN STACKHOUSE
United Press Staff Correspondent
ELMENDORF AIR FORCE

Alaska — The U. S. Air Force is building an electronic wall across Alaska, the first line of defense against atomic attack from the back door of Soviet Russia.

The all-important DEW (Distant Early Warning) radar chain forming the outer perimeter of the defense wall is not completed. A top Air Force officer told me the gaps are being filled "to the best of our ability," but it takes three or four years to build a radar site on an Arctic mountain top.

The Army speaks wistfully of a proposed ring of Nike rocket anti-aircraft defenses for Alaska. This is "being considered," Army spokesmen say, but it has not been built due to "lack of funds."

The military needs more anti-aircraft installations of all types in the Arctic. The Air Force mentions "homing missiles" that would take the guess-work out of interception, but these are still laboratory weapons.

Defense No Pushover
As of now the Alaskan Command has all the air bases it needs, but it wants more dispersal strips to "keep us from losing everything in one shot" as occurred at Pearl Harbor.

With all its flaws, the Alaskan defense wall as it stands today would be no pushover for an enemy.

As for defense against an initial attack, all-weather interceptors which climb at an ear-popping 100 feet per second and blast the enemy out of the sky with electronic precision.

Paradoxically, these planes carry no guns and their pilots never fire a shot. The pilot may never even see the enemy he is destroying.

The Scorpions carry "Mighty Mouse" rockets in huge torpedo-shaped pods under each wing. The rockets are fired by an electron brain that takes over once the pilot and his radar-observer have brought the plane into contact with the enemy.

What would happen if a Soviet bomber should suddenly dart into Alaskan territory?

An Electronic "Killer"
First, the unidentified target would be picked up on the early warning radar screen, appearing as a sharp, bright fast-moving "blip" on the scope. The altitude, speed, and course of the enemy plane would be relayed to the combat control radar installations in the interior and to the fighter center at air division headquarters.

Within a few minutes, possibly only seconds, the ready room pilots would have their planes in the air. Once aloft, the interceptor pilot takes his orders from the combat control center, whose radar men set his interception course.

About 30 miles from contact, the target appears on the Scorpion's own radar screen and the radar observer in the plane guides the pilot to a broadside run at the enemy plane.

Then the electronic brain takes control from the pilot, actually flying the aircraft, aiming the rocket pods and triggering the salvo that hits the enemy with the force 104 howitzer shells exploding all at once.

As one officer put it: "We paid the Russians $7,200,000 for Alaska. Today it would cost them more than that just to try to fly over it."

Rule Metropolis Man
Died of Gunshot Wound
By Brother-in-Law

METROPOLIS, Ill. — A coroner's jury Wednesday night ruled that Lon Davis, 76, Metropolis, died of a gunshot wound inflicted by his brother-in-law, Arthur Lynn, 57, Monday.

Lynn is awaiting a preliminary hearing on a murder charge filed against him after the shooting in Davis' home. Deputy Massac County Coroner Herbert Goyert said Lynn admitted shooting Davis because he threatened his wife, who is Lynn's sister.

Lynn's preliminary hearing was scheduled for Wednesday but was postponed to an indefinite time next week at the request of his attorney.

Reds Bombard Nationalists' Quemoy Island

TAIPEI, Formosa — The Chinese Communists broke a lull of almost four days in the Formosa Strait today with a bombardment of the Nationalist island outpost of Quemoy.

The Communists, who have built up massive forces opposite the Nationalist-held islands, fired more than 90 rounds of artillery at Greater Quemoy before Nationalist guns silenced them, a military communique announced.

The communique said the Red gunners opened up from the nearby islands of Lienho and Tatung between 10:04 and 10:50 a. m. in the first shelling since Feb. 13, shortly after the evacuation of the Tachen Islands.

Nationalist sources said the Communists' action indicated the appeal to Peiping by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for a peaceful solution of the Formosan crisis meant the appeal would fail.

The semi-official Chinatone News Agency said Red Gen. Lin Piao, commander of the Chinese "volunteers" in Korea, had deployed two divisions of his battle-hardened troops along the coast and began giving them amphibious training.

Some 500,000 Communist troops already were reported massed opposite Formosa. There was speculation Lin, father of the deadly "human wave" assaults in Korea, might assume command of these troops in any effort to invade Formosa.

Reliable military sources said the Nationalists had begun drafting "tens of thousands" of men on Formosa to counter this threat. The exact number to be called to the colors was said to be classified.

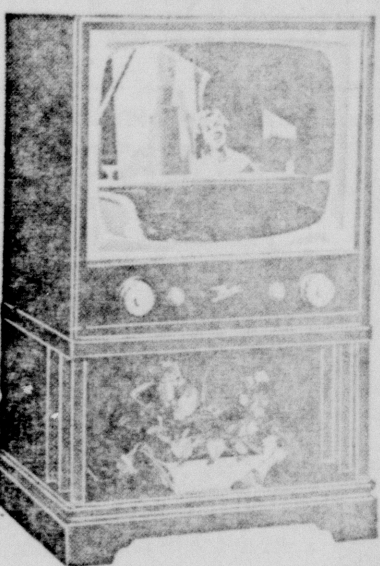

The Nationalists now have a regular military machine of some 600,000 men including the army, air force, navy and security troops.

The United States was reported keeping strong units of the 7th Fleet in Formosa waters and to be maintaining at least one squadron of F86 Sabrejets in Formosa.

HEAD START — Pitcher Jim Hearn of the New York Giants gets in some early road work on the Georgia Tech track prior to spring training. (NEA)

Maglie, Sain and Jim Hughes Sign Their Contracts

By United Press
Only four World Series games have been played outside New York City in the last six years—but the "Big Town's" continued domination may depend on the rubber right arms of three somewhat elderly pitchers who signed contracts today.

Returning signed pacts on the same day were key hurlers Sal Maglie of the world champion New York Giants, Johnny Sain of the New York Yankees, and Jim Hughes of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The hefty Hughes set a Dodger record by relieving 60 times last season.

Maglie, who claims the back trouble that bothered him in 1953 is now cured, signed for the same $32,000 he received last year, after first rejecting a salary cut. "Sal the Barber" won 14 games as a "spot" pitcher last year with four wins over the Dodgers, including the pennant clincher on Sept. 20.

Sain posted only a 6-6 mark last season, but trudged into 45 games and time and again was the "stopper" when Yankee starters faltered. Sain also signed for the same salary as last season, about $22,000.

Hughes, like Sain, was ineffective from weariness near the end of last season, but had an 8-4 record and was credited by the Dodgers with saving 24 other games. His earned run mark was 3.21, best of any pitcher who was with the Dodgers all season, and he was boosted to $14,000.

Bobo Olson Wins Decision from 'Tiger' Jones

Assured of Bout With Joey Maxim at San Francisco April 13

ALL ABOARD—Mary Ray Fearon, left, and Oranee Kiewit are set for surfboarding off Honolulu's Waikiki Beach. The sun couldn't have found a prettier pair to shine on. (NEA)

CHICAGO — Middleweight champion Carl "Bobo" Olson got "just the fight I expected" from Ralph "Tiger" Jones Wednesday night and as a result he was geared up today for a shot at bigger game.

Olson, weighing 168 pounds, the heaviest of his career, neatly carved Jones into a hulk bleeding from the eye, the mouth and the nose to win a handy 10-round decision.

"He's got as big a heart as anybody I've ever seen," Olson said of Jones.

Olson, entering the ring, was assured of a chance to go for the bigger game as the sponsoring International Boxing Club scheduled him for an April 13 bout in San Francisco Cow Palace against the former light-heavyweight champion, Joey Maxim.

The bout was contingent only upon Olson defeating Jones and he did that handily. Referee Frank Gilmer and Judge Spike McAdam gave the champion every round for a perfect 10 points in his 10-round non-title engagement, while Judge John Bray gave him 99 points.

"I felt fine at that weight," Olson said, "and that's about what I'll weigh for Maxim. I was strong and never got tired, and I could punch pretty well."

"But he fought the kind of fight I expected. Coming at me all the time. Just the kind I like."

Both Sid Flaherty, Olson's manager, and Maxim's handler, Jack Kearns, predicted the bout between their brawlers would draw $200,000 with the Cow Palace scaled to a $15 top. They also expected television revenue for the Wednesday night fight and Flaherty said that San Francisco would be blacked out.

Maxim, who watched Olson's one-sided win, said he weighed 196 pounds, but that he could get down to 175 with ease.

"I guess my combinations were my best," he said. "In the last rounds a left jab and a right hook. He never hurt me, and I hit him pretty good."

Jones, who said he never was hurt either, suffered two cuts under the right eyebrow. One required three stitches to close and the other, one. It was Jones' 13th loss in 49 fights and Olson's 61st win in 67.

Gophers Top Big 10 Scoring And Standings

CHICAGO — Minnesota dominated the Big Ten basketball race in both standings and scoring, official statistics showed today.

The Gophers, with a half game lead over second place Iowa, also had Dick Garmaker at the top of the individual scorers with a 26.3 point per game average. Garmaker climbed to the top because of consistent scoring while earlier leaders fell off the pace.

Indiana's Ben Schlundt, winner of the individual scoring championship for the past two seasons, was tied for second place with Frank Ehmann of Northwestern, each with a 25.7-point-per-game mark.

Garmaker climbed to the top Monday with 29 points against Indiana, while Schlundt fell behind with only 21 points.

The biggest changes last week came in the bottom five individual scoring leaders. Michigan State's Al Ferrari climbed from sixth to fifth, while Dick Cable of Wisconsin jumped from 10th to eighth.

Joe Sexson of Purdue dropped from ninth to 15th.

The biggest jump was by Ron Kramer of Michigan, who put together 56 points in two games to go from 24th to a tie for ninth with an 18-point-per-game average.

Northwestern continued to lead in average scoring with 82 points per game compared to 81.9 for Minnesota, while the Wildcats also held the top shooting percentage, 41.7, on field goals.

Dietzel Named Grid Coach at Louisiana State

BATON ROUGE, La. — Paul Dietzel, new Louisiana State University football coach, said today he would install a rugged rock 'em, sock 'em type of football at the school, based on Army's type offense.

The LSU Board of Supervisors picked Dietzel unanimously Wednesday to succeed Gavyn Tinsley, who was fired a week ago Saturday. He was given a three-year contract at $13,000 a year, highest in the school's history.

LSU still needs an athletic director to replace T. P. (Red) Heard who was allowed to resign the day Tinsley was fired.

Dietzel has been line coach under Earl (Red) Blaik at Army the past two years and held a similar position under Paul (Bear) Bryant at Kentucky the year before that.

He is a graduate of the University of Miami, Ohio, where he was captain of the team. He was freshman coach at West Point in 1948, moved to Cincinnati and then to Kentucky as an assistant.

Crowley Appointed To Pennsylvania Athletic Commission

SCRANTON, Pa. — James H. (Sleepy Jim) Crowley, former gridiron great newly appointed to the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, said today he plans to rid the racketeering "if it exists," from state boxing.

"We plan to make it one of the cleanest and most ethical sports," said Crowley, one of Notre Dame's famed four Horsemen and former grid coach at Fordham University.

Benjamin R. Donolow, a Philadelphia Democrat, has charged that boxing in Pennsylvania is "racket-ridden" and has introduced a resolution for an investigation of the sport by the state legislature.

The 52-year-old Crowley said he

Bull Dogs Host To Herrin Tigers Friday Night

Locals Will Travel To Charleston for Game Saturday

Tomorrow night the Harrisburg Bull Dogs play host to a team that walloped the local cagers, 61-27, back on Dec. 3.

This is a South Seven conference game, as was the December engagement. But fans are not expecting such a rout this time. The first tilt was the initial engagement of the season for the locals and the third for Herrin. That December night Bill Lawrence racked up 22 points to lead the Herrin Tigers.

Lawrence still has a chance to cop the scoring championship of the South Seven although it is slim. Bobby Joe Mason of Centralla, the leader, has 238 points in ten games and Lawrence, who seems to shoot better when he is off balance, has 168 in eight.

Coach Leodio Cabutti of the Tigers has the tallest front line in the conference with a couple of nice guards to go along with them. Right now the Tigers are in third place in the loop behind Centralla and Mt. Vernon.

There will be one other South Seven game Friday night, Centralla at Benton, and two Saturday night, West Frankfort at Benton and Herrin at Mt. Vernon.

Other South Seven teams play as follows: Marion at Johnston City on Friday night, and Harrisburg at Charleston, Centralla at Salem, and Marion playing host to Sparta on Saturday night.

Friday: Eldorado at McLeansboro, Norris City at Carrier Mills, Vienna at Galatia, Ridgway at Equality, Shawneetown at Pope County, Rosiclare at Cave-in-Rock and Brookport at Metropolis.

Saturday: Olney at Carmi.

South Seven standings:

Team	Won	Lost
Centralla	9	1
Mt. Vernon	9	2
Herrin	5	3
Marion	7	5
West Frankfort	3	7
Benton	1	8
Harrisburg	1	9

Golf Ass'n to Improve Course, Recreation Area

George H. Davis, president of the Egyptian Golf association, stated today that plans are underway for improvements of the golf course and recreation area at the Kurto Country Club.

Davis stated that the course will be enlarged at the number one tee and green, making this hole longer. Number 4 green will be moved approximately forty yards to the north as a safety measure thus eliminating a hazard that has prevailed there. Both of these steps will tend to speed up play in this immediate area.

A larger recreation area will be prepared to take care of more picnickers.

This year's program will include more tournaments. Both club and inter-club tournaments are being scheduled.

Reseeding of the fairways and improvements of the greens will also be made.

"It is again necessary to limit the membership to 150," Mr. Davis stated, "and all old members are being requested to signify their intention before March 1 as to whether or not they wish to continue their membership. Last year the club had a total of 140 and there is now a list of prospects in excess of the number of memberships that will be available if all of the old members renew."

The present officers of the association are George H. Davis, president; Charlie Skaggs, vice president; Lowden Pankey, vice president; Wilbur X. Barker, treasurer and Aubrey Pelhank, secretary.

Wilt Chamberlain is Getting Anti-Social as Scouts Hound Him

(Harry Grayson is on vacation)

By JIMMY BRESLIN

NEA Staff Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) — It was implausible to see Wilt Chamberlain in a high school game. This seven-foot, one inch chunk of basketball talent belongs in such places as Madison Square Garden or Kentucky's auditorium or wherever the nation's best play.

But Wilt is only 17 and he still is a senior at Overbrook High School here, so he was out on a postage stamp-sized court, playing in a schoolboy league game with kids his own age.

His presence turned the game into a joke. With anywhere from nine inches to a foot in height advantage over anybody on the floor—and many degrees of talent—Chamberlain baited in 43 points and controlled the game until he was taken out at the start of the final quarter with the game a 40-point rout.

WILT THE STILT, as this towering youngster is called, has made a shambles of high school basketball in Philadelphia. And while he's been doing so, his name has reached every corner of the nation which has basketball interest.

Chamberlain now must stand as the most-bothered high school basketball player in the game's history. He has had over 200 edged offers for a free college education.

And the kid has been going quietly nuts because of it. "The phone never stops ringing home," he says. "People always bother me."

"How would you like to come to this place?" they'll ask me. Then five minutes later somebody else is here and he wants me to go to another college. I don't know what to do. I'm not going to talk to anybody from now on. I'm just tired of it all."

When you see Chamberlain play, it is easy to see why college scouts and alumni groups are ready to hustle all the cash in sight to get him into a certain school.

HE IS A GOOD-LOOKING boy, too, if you can see up that far, wears a mustache. His arms are proportionately normal, hanging down to the middle of his thighs, but when he sticks them into the air they look like a couple of bridge towers. His legs are the reason they give him the Stilt nickname. His shoulders are wide and strong.

The first time you see this Chamberlain in a basketball player—perhaps one of the best ever to come along.

A long set missed the mark and Chamberlain leaped up—he can jump as well as a small guy—and grabbed the ball with his huge right hand. He came down, whirling and headed up the court, dribbling. Four bounces of the ball—eight giant strides—and Wilt was at the foul line.

Then he whipped an underhand pass to a teammate underneath, who stuck in an easy layup.

On the next play the same thing happened. Only Chamberlain left the floor at the foul line and fired a line-drive one handed. It missed—but you had to watch closely. For, in the same motion that he shot, Wilt soared to the basket, grabbed the rebound before it was a foot off the backboard, then slammed it downward through the net as he flew under the basket and out of bounds.

THE ABILITY TO DO THESE things—which clearly stamp him as being good enough to play in the professional ranks now—reacts strangely on Wilt. He tries to get interested in a game from which his overpowering play takes all interest.

He shouts and yells to his teammates, but then he'll score a ridiculously easy basket and it keeps him quiet for a time.

It bothers him to be thought of as a 17-year old high school kid. "Too many people," he kept saying. "Too many photographers, too many people. Sure wish they'd leave me alone. Yes, I'm going to go to college, but I don't know where. Won't people let me make up my own mind?"

Move in Legislature for County-By-County Sale of Auto Licenses

SPRINGFIELD — A move will be made in the Illinois Legislature to require county-by-county sale of motor vehicle license plates. But county-by-county sale will be opposed by the secretary of state's office, which now sells all license plates from Springfield and Chicago offices.

The backers of the county-by-county plan also want the first one or two numbers on the plates to identify the county in which the plate-owner resides.

There would be no increase in license fees but counties would get a commission on each plate sold.

Reps. Joseph P. Stremmler (D-Mendota) and William Pierce (D-Berkfield) are drawing up proposals for county-by-county sale. Stremmler said his bill will be ready for introduction when the Legislature returns March 1.

He said he and Pierce may submit the same measure if they can iron out minor differences. One of the differences, he said, was that he wants to give counties one dollar on each sale and Pierce believes 50 cents would be sufficient.

Stremmler said the sale would be made by county clerks with the secretary of state's office acting as the central office, arranging for manufacture of the plates and supplying plates and forms to clerks.

Stremmler said La Salle County supervisors urged him to submit the measure, giving convenience to motorists as the main argument for it. He said the county-by-county identification numbers would help local law enforcement officers and otherwise aid in identifying cars from various locations. C. R. Hodgman, assistant secretary of state under Charles F. Carpenter, frankly agreed such sales might be more convenient for motorists but said he opposed the county-by-county sale for other reasons.

Says Change Would Up Cost

Hodgman said he was certain the de-centralized sales would be more expensive, perhaps as much as three million dollars a year more expensive. He said Illinois sells about 3,150,000 motor vehicle plates a year, with 1,200,000 sold out of the Chicago office.

He said the change in accounting procedure would be "tremendous" and the creation of a sales system in each county clerk's office would also be complex and expensive.

Hodgman said the idea of identifying the county by a number prefix needs more study.

"We are not opposed to any new systems if we can see them working in states with registrations comparable to Illinois," he said. "But we hesitate to experiment at the expense of the taxpayer."

Hodgman said one objection to the county numbering system was that some Cook County licenses would have to run to at least eight numbers, compared to a maximum seven numbers now.

He said there might also be some objections from the 266,000 persons who asked the secretary for reassignment of 1954 numbers in 1955.

Red Cross Program Approved for County Chapter; Malan Quits as Blood Chairman

Alfred Adams, fund drive chairman for the annual campaign of the American Red Cross, will attend a meeting in Carbondale Friday along with other officials of the Saline county chapter, at which the annual drive for funds will be discussed.

The Saline county campaign was discussed at the regular meeting of the Saline county chapter, held Feb. 9 at Schrier's cafe. It was announced at that meeting that a section meeting of the blood program was to be held in Lawrenceville Tuesday of this week, to be attended by the blood committee of the local chapter.

At the meeting here, the board accepted with regret the resignation of Russell Malan, county chairman of the blood program.

Program, Policy

The executive secretary, Mrs. John Belt, read the Saline county Red Cross chapter program and policy, which was approved by the board for the coming year. The program and policy is:

I. Fund Drive: Month of March each year to maintain services of chapter and pay proportionate part of national expense.

II. Home Service: Verification of leave or extension of leave. Other reporting for military, V.A. servicemen, veterans, and their families. Assistance in obtaining compensation, pension, insurance, allotment, and in other government benefits.

Financial assistance, on basis of need, will be provided:

By chapter funds for basic maintenance needed by wives and receipt of Class Q allotment and during periods when such payments as may be due are delayed or interrupted.

By referral to other local resources for basic maintenance needed by other dependents of the armed forces during such periods as listed above.

By use of chapter funds or by referral to other resources for emergency needs of wives and children of members of the armed forces which arise at any time during the period of military service.

Chapter assumes responsibility for the emergency needs of disabled veterans and their dependents either by referral or chapter funds during the period between the submission of the first application for service-connected disability or service connected death benefits and receipt of first payment or notice of disallowance.

Cases currently active with an other agency will remain with that agency, with the chapter making available the services other than financial assistance.

No other financial assistance program can be maintained by the Saline County Red Cross Chapter. Counseling in Personal and Family Problems.

Information service. (Includes Disasters). Disaster Welfare Inquiries. (Includes civilians). Reports for other chapter and agencies.

III. Disaster Service: Chapter funds not adequate to have local disaster program. Only the National Disaster Program with funds provided by National Organization when disaster occurs in county affecting five or more families.

IV. Blood Program: Provides free blood in all hospitals in Saline county and makes free blood replacement available to residents in any hospital that will accept Red Cross Blood.

V. Public Information: Newspapers, radio and TV.

VI. Service Groups: Staff Aides, Gray Ladies, nurses, doctors and other volunteers serving in chapter programs.

Reopen Giant City State Park

SPRINGFIELD (UPI)—State Conservation Director Glen D. Palmer today announced that Giant City State Park, south of Carbondale in the Illinois Ozarks, has been reopened for the 1955 season.

The park, covering more than 1,500 acres in Jackson and Union counties, has a stone lodge to furnish lodging and meals and cottages for overnight visitors.

Eugene D. Dixon, Former FBI Agent, is Assistant Vice President of Irving Trust

A former Harrisburg man who spent nine years in the service of the Federal Bureau of Investigation is now the assistant vice-president of the Irving Trust Co. of New York City. He is Eugene D. Dixon, son of Herbert C. Dixon, Harrisburg, and the late Charlotte Dixon.

Eugene Dixon was born in Harrisburg July 28, 1916, spending his youth and boyhood days in the community much the same as any youngster of the time.

At HTHS he participated in intramural sports, band, the Junior Purple and was a member of the Purple Curtain and Emersonian society. He recalls that he participated in Emersonian contests, but never won anything. He also took part in the annual "Paw Wow" two years. He received his high school diploma in June 1934.

While attending high school he held part-time jobs and later worked on highway construction during the summer. At one time he was employed at the Kroger stores and on another occasion held a position at the Dixon Cafeteria (no relation) in 1934.

Following high school, he attended Southern Illinois Normal at Carbondale. In 1936 he accepted a post with the FBI and while working there continued his education at Southeastern university, Washington, D. C. He was graduated from this school in 1939 with a BCS degree.

Dixon continued to serve with the FBI throughout the war years, leaving for the government job in 1945 for the position of assistant secretary of the Irving Trust company. He was promoted to his present capacity a few months ago.

The Dixons have two boys, Michael, 15, and Gerald, 12. They reside at 36 Highland Lane, Cedar Grove, New Jersey.

Mr. Dixon is a member of the Community church of Cedar Grove, the Adventurers club, New York, the Society of Former Special Agents of Federal Bureau of Investigation, Ridgewood Acres Association, and the Notre Dame Association. He is a past treasurer of the SFAFBI.

The former Harrisburg man enjoys woodworking, gardening and listening to good music as hobbies. He plays both the piano and the clarinet.

One of his most vivid memories of Harrisburg is the death of his mother, which occurred in 1932.

Dixon is an occasional visitor to this community, having last spent a few days here in the summer of 1954.

Other relatives still residing here besides his father are Irl L. Dixon, an uncle, and Mrs. William Smith, an aunt.

To Crown Eldorado High Cage Queen at Junior Play Feb. 24

The Junior class of the Eldorado Township high school will present the annual Junior play Thursday, Feb. 24, with two performances, one at 1:30 p. m. and again at 7:30.

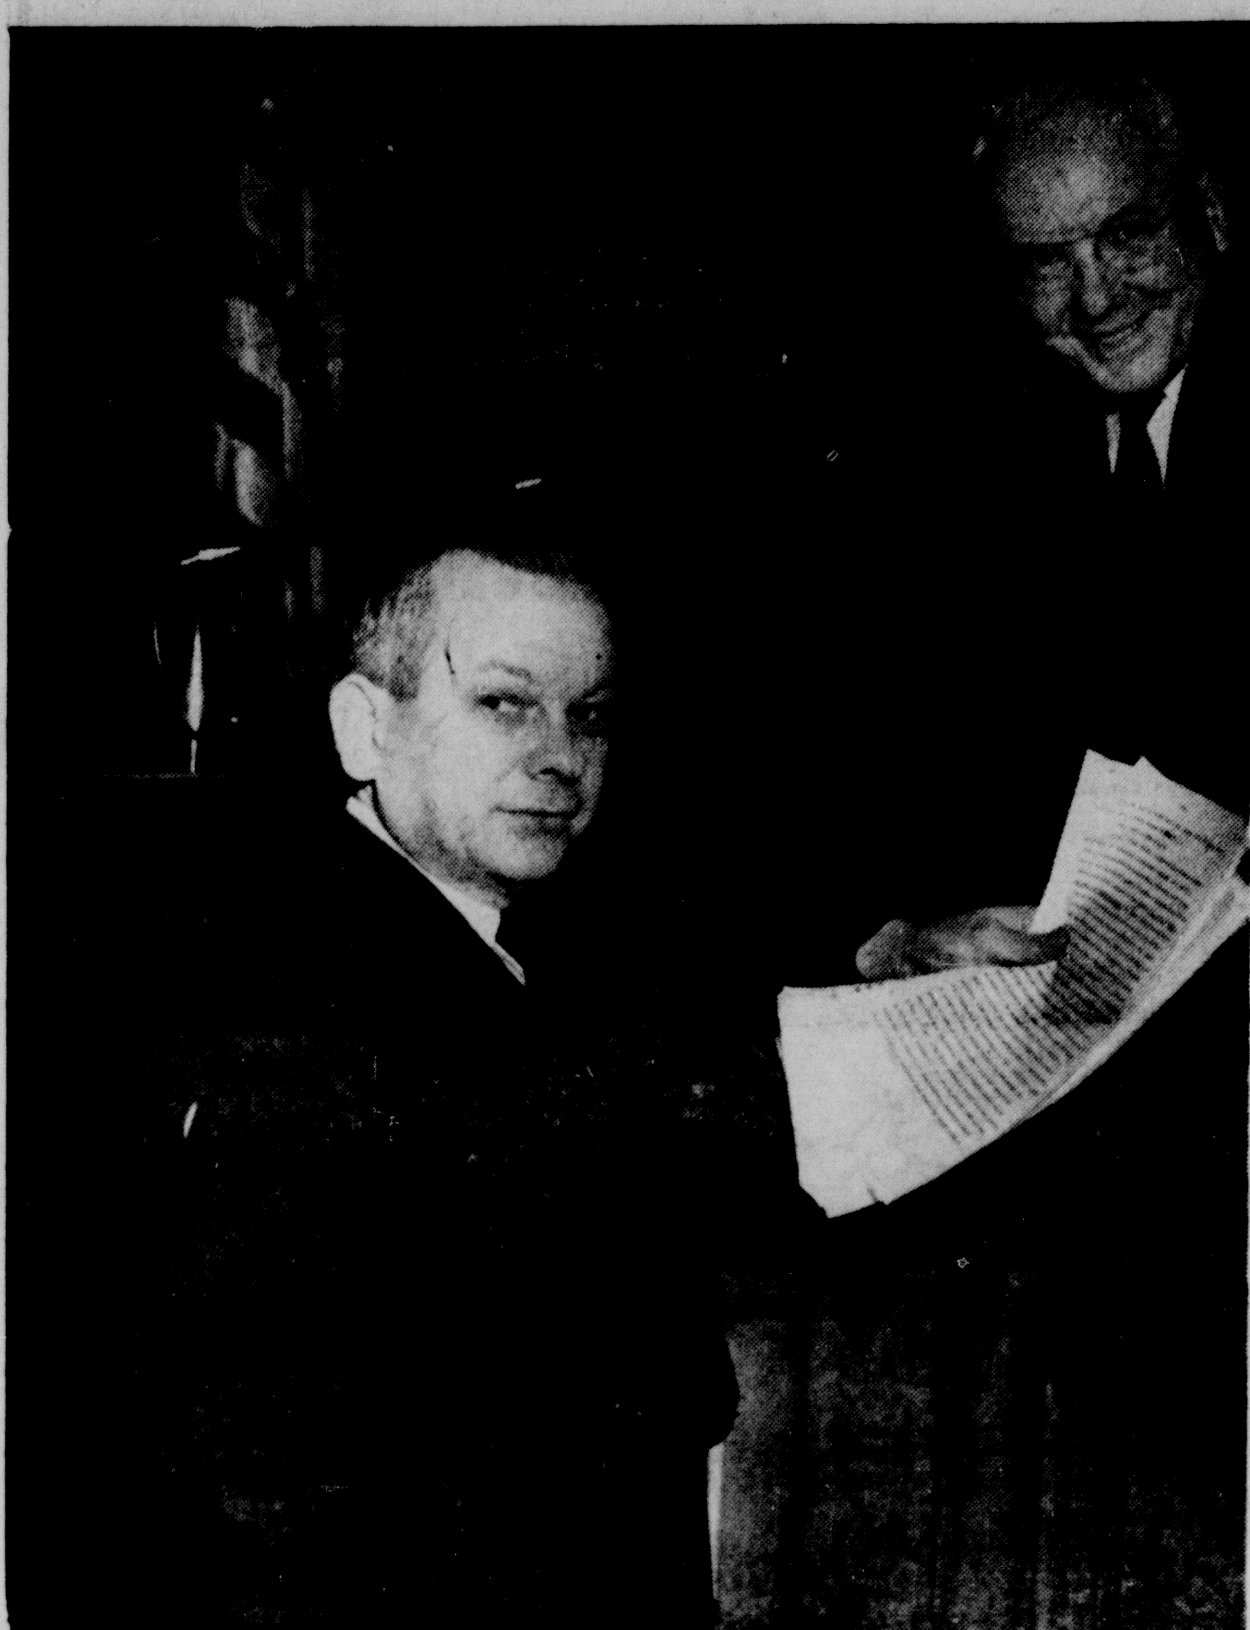

Following the evening presentation will be the coronation of the basketball queen. Five girls have been nominated for ETHS basketball queen of 1955. They are Joan Burroughs, Pat Elder, Linda Sontra, Beth York and Claudetta Justice.

The play, "Just Ducky," is a three-act comedy, directed by Mrs. Doris Camp, assisted by student directors, Vicki Poole and Ruth Ann Thompson.

The cast — Mr. Maxwell, Ronnie Stroke; Mrs. Maxwell, Janet Draper; Connie Maxwell, Linda Sontra; Betty Lou Maxwell, Pat Elder; Wilbur Maxwell, Harry Mac Kennedy; Bernadine Smith, Valera Schultz; Hercules Nelson, Don Maddon; Aunt Mary, Kaye Taylor; Mr. Moore, Tom Goldman; Mr. Marshall, Timmy Turner; Craig Moore, Paul Plunkett and Vester Blayne, Joyce Carnahan.

David Briddick, Ronnie Clark and Bob Potts are the stage crew. Admission will be 25 cents for grade school students, 20 cents for high school students and 50 cents for adults.

SENATOR JONES CONFERS WITH LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR—Sen. Glen O. Jones, Raleigh, talks with Lieut. Gov. John W. Chapman, president of the Illinois State Senate, regarding legislation he is planning to introduce. The huddle was held while the State Senate was in session. Senator Jones is co-sponsor of a bill which would increase compensation for unemployed and to boost the amount a person may earn without disqualifying him or her for the unemployment compensation.

LEGISLATOR AT WORK:

Sen. Glen Jones is Interested in Bills To 'Cushion Economic Shock' for Area

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special) — An association with former Illinois Supreme Court Justice Charles H. Thompson, Harrisburg, is credited by Glen O. Jones, Raleigh, as being a reason for his being the state senator from the 51st senatorial district. Jones, 44, an attorney, was legal secretary to Thompson when the latter was on the high tribunal.

When Judge Thompson retired from the bench in 1950 Jones practiced law in Harrisburg and it seemed natural when the chance came, that he should desire to follow somewhat in the footsteps of his former boss who had been a state senator before he was elected to the supreme court. So when former Sen. Arthur Van Hooser, Metropolis, retired, Jones succeeded him.

Jones, who served as Saline county state's attorney twice and rose to the rank of army infantry lieutenant colonel in World War II, says his chief ambition is to do a good job as a legislative representative from his district which is comprised of Hamilton, Johnson, Massac, Pope and Saline counties. He operates a farm near Raleigh, is married and has two sons.

Jones is only a first termer but feels his experience under Judge Thompson has familiarized him to some extent with the process of law making. He said he is interested in getting some township roads fixed, adding that "I live on one near Raleigh." He also is interested in legislation which will "assist our people (in southern Illinois) in cushioning themselves against economic shock."

In southern Illinois, Jones said, "It is a feast or a famine all the time." He believes that the state and federal governments should relax restrictions to permit persons receiving relief to earn some extra income but at the same time not allow the relief to become a dole. He is co-sponsor of a bill which would liberalize compensation payments for the unemployed.

The proposal would increase the maximum weekly payments from $27 to $40, extend the period for which they are paid from 26 to 34 weeks and increases from two dollars to $15 per week the amount a recipient of benefits may earn without being disqualified. Jones' co-sponsor is Sen. R. G. Criswell, R., Morrisboro. The bill has been referred to the senate Industrial Affairs committee.

Two other bills on which Jones is a co-sponsor seek to amend the Illinois Workmen's Compensation and Occupational Diseases acts to increase benefits for workers. Another one which he is a co-sponsor with Criswell would transfer administrative duties relating to disposition of oil, gas and other petroleum deposits in public lands from the State Finance Department to the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals. It is the Senate Executive committee.

Jones is a member of six senate committees. They are Aeronautics and Military Affairs which has been assigned the Broyles anti-communism bills; Highways and Traffic Regulation which will pass on a proposed speed limit for motor vehicles; Judiciary; Public Utilities and Railroads; and is vice chairman of Appointments and Elections. His hobby is fishing "with a cane pole. I keep about 15 in the barn."

The remarkable Jones said it would be wonderful for the state "if all the legislators would keep in mind the welfare of all the people. He said he also is interested in school legislation and state aid to schools, having been a school board director. Jones said that in his area "we have a very low assessed property valuation so we must have state aid."

Speeding Fine Turns Into Profitable Deal

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Robert V. Kinney turned a $10 fine for speeding into a profitable deal. Kinney was charged with speeding in Benwood City near here. The charge netted him so he appeared at a city council meeting to blast the efficiency of the police department.

He wound up selling the city a two-way radio system. "This guy comes down to pay $10 and leaves with $1,000 of our money," a councilman remarked.

Criminologist in Sheppard Case Has Fabulous Record in Solving Mysteries

By JAMES G. CROSSLEY
CLEVELAND—(NEA)—Lights glowing from windows which have known only gloom since last summer attest that the phantom of murdered Marilyn Sheppard still haunts her home.

Dr. Paul L. Kirk, University of California criminologist, is the latest in a long line of investigators who have tried to lay rest the question of just what took place in the Sheppard home when Marilyn died.

For four days Kirk focused his trained eyes on the evidence in the case which brought a life sentence to Marilyn's husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard. He talked to Dr. Sam and the Sheppard family.

Locked into the Sheppards' lake-front home, he spent hours prowling from room to room. Passively, accustomed now to the gloomy darkness of this house among the others with lights aglow, were the lone Dr. Kirk as he pored over the evidence which remains in the house of tragedy.

"I do not consider the case closed," Kirk said, departing from his home on the West Coast. "I'm not sorry I looked into this thing," he said. "I found a few things. I have some experiments to make before I can reach any conclusion."

Thus, dramatically, the fabulous Kirk, educator and crime expert, has put his mark on another of a long line of mysteries. Again, by using scientific examination and detection, he is trying to find some evidence which was overlooked.

book with scores of names of women over the country. He had several cuts on his body which he explained as caused by shaving, a can opener and other things.

Watson denied the crime and claimed an alibi. At this point Kirk was called in. With the scientific detection devices he has invented and accumulated during his activities as a criminologist since 1935, he incriminated Watson.

He found and analyzed a trail of blood. Blood spots showed both the husband's and wife's types. Watson's alibi was almost sustained. He had been to the various point he said he had been. But grains of sand and soil turned up by Kirk in the blood samples showed it was after his wife had been killed instead of before. He is in San Quentin for from five years to life.

It was because Dr. Kirk is the outstanding exponent of using science to solve crimes and because of his book, "Crime Investigation, Physical Evidence and the Police Laboratory," that Sheppard's attorney, William J. Corrigan, brought him into the case. Corrigan hopes for enough new evidence to base an appeal of Dr. Sam's recent conviction and motion for a new trial.

Kirk will give Corrigan a written report. He will not disclose its contents without Corrigan's permission.

"You must remember that it was a cold trail," Kirk said. "Also, you can't make a laboratory out of a hotel room."

While he took some undiscovered items home with him, it was necessary to examine most of the exhibits under scrutiny of the prosecutor's staff.

This he did working with stereoscopic magnifying glasses clamped over his spectacles. He paid particular attention to the pajamas worn by the victim.

He talked to Dr. Sam. "He gave me some ideas but most of them were things which already had been explored," he reported.

SEEKING NEW CLUES IN SHEPPARD CASE, Dr. Paul L. Kirk, seeking new clues to the pillow which Marilyn Sheppard died.

Cherry Upside Down Cake

by Mary Blake, Home Service Director, Carnation Company
(Makes 1 10-inch fruit cake)

2 eggs
1/2 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 teaspoons double-acting type baking powder

3 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
1/2 cup water

Cherry Topping:

1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup granulated sugar
2 cups well-drained canned cherries

Blend eggs, shortening, sugar and vanilla until light and fluffy. Add dry ingredients (which have been sifted together), alternately with Carnation-water mixture. Place batter in 10-inch heavy skillet over Cherry Topping mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375°F) 45-50 minutes. Remove from skillet while still warm by inverting skillet over serving plate. Top with whipped Carnation, if desired. Whipped Carnation: Chill 1 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk in refrigerator tray until soft crystals form throughout the milk (15-20 minutes). Whip Carnation until stiff (about 1 minute). Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice and whip very stiff (about 2 minutes longer). Fold in 2 tablespoons granulated sugar and serve immediately on Cherry Upside Down Cake.

FASHION LENGTHENS SWEATERS FOR SPRING—The long, smooth look in spring sweaters is a natural result of the long torso suit jacket. Designed to fit without bulk under jackets, the new overblouses are lightweight. They're right for the new skirts, too, since many of these are long-torso, knife-pleated types. Sailor collar fashion (left) is translated into orlon overblouse by Rosanna. This is in navy banded in white. Overblouse by this same designer has high, square neckline (right) bordered with wide ribbing to give it shape. This is in pastels, looks equally well with suit or skirt.

The man was weakening about the knees. Crotch could feel the dead weight of Maddix's body dragging them both down. He gave a sudden, violent heave and threw Maddix from him, watching him career halfway across the room and come smashing down on his head. He stood spread-legged until he was sure Maddix was not going to get up.

His fist ached from the pounding he had given, and blood was dripping from the side of his face. Both hands slipped into his pockets, coming out with their pistols. His fiery eyes ranged the cafe, coldly hostile. The room had been sobered by the shooting of Snodgrass. There were gold seekers and freighters and speculators in chains, arrived here at the landing for a taste of Christmas cheer; jetsam all, every one a navigation sympathizer who in some way looked to Jamison for favors. But even these men were temporarily willing to forego animosity. No one would have cared had Crotch been gunned, but under the circumstances of the preacher's being hit, Maddix's firearm would be an unpopular man when he returned.

"Look after the Reverend," Crotch said. "Bring him along." There was no doctor at Castle Dome, but aboard the General Heath Melott would do all that could be done.

A few burly men lifted Snodgrass, stepped outside with those in front making room for them. From downriver came the spasmic cracking of rifles as Maddix's crewmen went into action against the General Heath. Crotch told one of the bar men to hurry down and stop the fighting.

"Tell Goss to bring her back to the landing. Better to have the Heath up here than to carry Snodgrass that far." He motioned with his pistol toward the landing strip. The men laboring with Snodgrass stumbled after him over the snow-covered mud.

At the timber wharf Crotch spread his shortcoat so they might lay Snodgrass on it. Movement had restored partial consciousness to the man lying on the ground. "Water. May I please have water?"

One of the miners offered his bottle of whisky, but Crotch sent the man running to the cafe for water. He felt the wounded man's gaze on him and he said quietly, "Reverend, I guess you took a bullet that was intended for me."

But Snodgrass had turned his face in pain. Then, when it was over, the lids of his eyes fluttered. "The way of the wicked is as darkness," he murmured. "They know not at what they stumble." Weakness carried him into unconsciousness.

But now the General Heath was sliding to her landing, this time well alight with her passengers and the breech-clouted Cocopahs crowding forward.

Melott leaped ashore. "Get this man aboard!" Crotch ordered. An Indian bumped him as he was hustling his Cocopahs. It was the yardman who had refused to sell him firewood a short time before.

"You still want to buy some firewood?"

"You rascal! A little while ago you would have let me sit under steam."

"No, Captain. Just now unloaded."

"Bring your 10 cords up here fast. My boy'll help you."

Still the yardman was grinning. "The captain made some talk about bonus."

Now Crotch snorted. "Bonus, eh? Get your men moving, or my boy'll rope you to the boiler."

Under the light from a swinging lantern in Queenie's stateroom, Jim Melott cleaned and banded the preacher's bullet wound. It was high on the chest, entering the back and going through clean.

Queenie had stood by, doing all she could do to aid Melott. Now while Snodgrass slept she stepped outside.

Queenie's gaze found Crotch among the men, and she saw that he wore a fresh bandage over his left ear and about his head.

He was expecting some fresh move, some final try by Jamison to drive him from the river. Sugar Logan's voice coming from beside the ladder brought him up short.

"I've been waiting until you were finished. There didn't seem to be any time you needed my help."

Crotch's lips curled the barest degree at their edges. "You sure you're on the right boat?"

"Yes, quite sure," Logan smiled suavely. "I went along with Jamison to discover once and for all what he was going to offer La Paz Milling Company. I expected you'd be angry. In fact, with you on your toes, I expected you might be willing to offer better rates for hauling the ore."

"The rates will have to stand. A steamboat makes no money working for nothing."

Logan nodded. "That's right. I'm sure we have the best offer. I'll tell you now, Crotch. Once I discovered Jamison's plan for freezing you out of the woodyards, I understood the Navigation combine. If I favored them, our contract wouldn't be worth the paper it was written on. I left his Clara more without his knowledge, and waited here at Castle Dome."

"You haven't given the contract to Jamison?"

"There will be no contract," Logan smiled slowly, "except between the captain and Captain Crotch."

$1,063,000 Spent In State for Toll Road Planning

CHICAGO (AP)—A total of $1,063,000 was spent last year for toll highway planning in Illinois, the Illinois State Toll Highway Commission disclosed today.

In its annual report the commission said that of the total amount due, $315,000 has already been paid out of General Assembly appropriations and the remaining $748,000 would be payable from proceeds from the sale of revenue bonds.

The first step in 1955, the report said, will be to terminate the sale of revenue bonds, which will provide funds for all activities of the commission during the design and construction phases.

It also said the acquisition of rights-of-way will start immediately in order that construction can be commenced early enough in the year to gain the advantage of most of the 1955 construction season.

Social and Personal Items

Chapter Z, P. E. O., Meets With Mrs. John Cape

Mrs. John Cape was hostess to Chapter Z, P. E. O., at its regular meeting on Friday afternoon at her home, 511 North Webster.

Mrs. J. P. Durham presided during the business session in the absence of the president, Mrs. Lloyd L. Parker.

The program chairman, Mrs. Robert Metcalf, introduced Mrs. Carl Rude, who spoke on "Magic in Make-Up and Dress." She gave quotations, rules and generalities from the experts on the subject and told of things that can be done to overcome special problems in grooming, as well as mistakes made in grooming. She stated "Fashions come and go, but good taste lasts forever." Mrs. Rude read a fable of fashion entitled, "Lady and the Tiger," and included a list of quotations on personal research. The talk was concluded with new ideas to try in fashion and grooming.

Mrs. Bruce Polk talked on "The Magical Quality of Purity," and began by defining purity as the quality in determining the capacity of the heart in receiving and passing on to others the love of God. In relating the power of purity, setting an example was stressed as a real opportunity to influence others, the home being the axis by which purity can best be extended. In closing Mrs. Polk quoted a fitting poem entitled "Just Build a Better You."

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next regular meeting will be held on Feb. 25 at the home of Mrs. J. A. Bottomley.

Past Presidents of Legion Auxiliary Meet

Mrs. Freda Keltner was hostess Tuesday evening to the Past Presidents Parley of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Trafford Dennis presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Kenneth O'Neal. Mrs. Keltner read the auxiliary prayer.

A social hour followed with games and contests being enjoyed by the members. Lovely refreshments were served to Mrs. Arthur Moore, Mrs. Harry Barter, Mrs. W. W. Wheatley, Mrs. C. W. Whitely, Mrs. W. L. Tate, Mrs. John Schwartz, Mrs. C. E. Wing, Mrs. Trafford Dennis and Mrs. Ernest Craft.

First Christian Ruth Gray Class Holds Potluck Dinner

The Ruth Gray Sunday school class of the First Christian church held a covered dish dinner in the Fellowship hall of the church Tuesday night.

Following the dinner a rehearsal was held for the humorous skit, "The District School," to be presented as part of the George Washington program next Tuesday, Feb. 22.

The class is sponsoring the entertainment which is an annual event to which the public is invited. A program of music and readings has been planned and refreshments of cherry pie and coffee will be served, it was announced.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. John Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McDowell, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Coffey, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Aldridge and Greta, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grotz and Doris Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Starnes, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Shewmake Jr. and Kenny, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Harris and Sharon and Susie, Mrs. Harold Empson, Mrs. Bernice McMahon, Mrs. Vance Brackney, Mrs. James Jackson, Mrs. Robert Schwartz, Mrs. Charles Ridenour, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Daugherty and Glen Jr., Stanley Wilson, Miss Hazel Sunday, Mrs. Willard Rutherford, class president, and Paula and Carol and Mrs. William Sloan Jr., teacher.

Associational Y. W. A. Meets At Harrisburg First Baptist Church

The Harrisburg Association Y. W. A. banquet was held Monday evening in the educational building of the First Baptist church. Six churches were represented in an attendance of 45.

The invocation was given by Mrs. William Fuson, and following group singing led by Susan Grammer with Sally Smith and Mona Wickham at the piano, dinner was served on tables decorated in keeping with the Valentine theme.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Ethel Lynch, the associational young people's leader. Reports were given on the Y. W. A. state conference by Janice Phelps, Yvonne Henn, of the First Baptist church, Sally Smith and Yvonne Lane, Ingram Hill Baptist.

Following the dinner an informal recreation period was directed by the First Baptist Y. W. A.

Mrs. Maxine Hamby Hostess To Home Towners Club

The Home Towners Club of Pontiac, Mich., held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. Maxine Hamby.

Following the business meeting games were played with Mrs. Hattie Sweet, Mrs. Mary Sweat and Mrs. Shirley Mottswain winning prizes. Mrs. Sweet also won the door prize.

Mrs. Clarice Hutson was a visitor. Delicious refreshments were served to Drucella Murphy, Joan Wilkins, Janet Keys, Shirley Mottswain, Ruth Miller, Hattie Sweet, Mary Sweat, Clarice Hutson and the hostess, Maxine Hamby.

Miss Jeanne Finney, whose home is on East Lincoln street in Harrisburg, is employed at Oak Ridge, Tenn., by the atomic plant there.

ROCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—All are not Republicans in New Hampshire!

Gov. Hugh Gregg was presiding at a public hearing in the city hall here when a woman holding a baby asked if she might speak from her seat rather than come down front to the microphone.

Before Gregg could assent, a man offered to hold the child. As Mrs. Noreen Winkley walked to the microphone, the governor quipped:

"HE (the baby) probably will grow up to be a good Republican." "SHE will grow up to be a good Democrat," the mother reported. "I am a Democrat."

Hemp, said to have been grown in China as early as 2800 B. C., is the oldest cultivated fiber plant.
